Today, HRVY announces his 'Behind Closed Doors' debut broadcast live show at London's iconic Royal Albert Hall, on April 25th at 7pm GMT/ PST & AEST* (*26th April). Partnering with leading global streaming platform On Air, HRVY's show will fall as part of the 150th Anniversary Celebrations of the Royal Albert Hall and the live stream will be broadcast straight from the stage direct to fans worldwide.

With his dedicated cult-following and recently acquired new primetime TV fanbase - following his impressive stint on last season's Strictly Come Dancing - unable to see the 22-year-old star perform live, due to pandemic-related pushbacks; HRVY, famed for such singles as 'Personal' 'Unfamiliar' and recent single 'Good Vibes' will bring his epic live performance and perfect pop smash hits straight to them, this April.

Speaking about his upcoming show HRVY explains "I can't wait to play my first show in over a year, it's going to be so good getting all the band and dancers back together again and play at such an incredible venue as the Royal Albert Hall for my first digital live show."

The show is also part of the Royal Albert Hall's newly unveiled programme exactly 150 years on from its opening. After facing one of the toughest years for the cultural sector, the venue's chief executive, Craig Hassall has announced further plans which include major new commissions, headline shows from musical legends and anniversary editions of historic community events. They will also include a complete restoration for the Hall's historic facade, the result of four years of painstaking work.

With over 4.6 million Instagram fans, 2.4 million YouTube subscribers and 3.8 million TikTok followers, it's almost certain the social media sensation will have fans poised when tickets go on sale on the 28th March at 10am GMT.
